

AGSM @ UNSW Business School

Recognised Prior Learning (RPL) Protocol and Procedure

The AGSM seeks to ensure the highest quality learning experience for all students. When a student can demonstrate mastery in a specific topic area, AGSM Programs may award RPL for that subject.

Prospective students are expected to apply for RPL during their application process.

In all cases, RPL is at the discretion of the Program Authority; this RPL policy may change at any time without notice. The ability to apply for RPL is strictly governed by the guidelines below.

RPL Procedure

Step 1

Understand AGSM's RPL Protocol and Procedure

Step 2

Familiarise yourself with the course summaries and overviews on the AGSM website.

Step 3

For assessment on application please include all required documents (including an RPL application form) with your application documentation.

*UNSW policy advises that students may apply for RPL up until the midpoint of their studies (ie up to 50% of their academic program).

If applying for RPL after commencing your AGSM program, please submit your RPL application to studentexperience@agsm.edu.au. Your application will be considered in line with the above criteria for formal learning accreditation attained after your commencement

Possible outcomes

Successful application: Approved RPL will be included in your Letter of Offer. Unless you formally decline the offered RPL, in due course it will appear on your Academic Statement with the Grade if an UNSW course and as 'T' for transfer for external courses. It is your responsibility to check details are correct in myUNSW within your first session of studies.

RPL declined: RPL is not approved at the discretion of the Program Director. RPL decisions are final and no correspondence will be entered into.

Timing

In most cases students will be notified of the outcome of their application within 3 weeks of receipt of all required documentation as outlined on the application form. Commencing students should anticipate receiving the outcome of their RPL application along with their Letter of Offer.

If students acquire new accreditation after commencing their MBA Program at AGSM, and wish to apply for RPL, they must not enrol in that particular course in the interim. Instead they should make their RPL application and await the outcome.

WAM following RPL

If the RPL approved is for course(s) completed at other institutions, grades achieved for those courses will not be included on your academic statement, official UNSW academic transcript or in the calculation of your Weighted Average Mark (WAM).

If the RPL approved is for course (s) completed at UNSW, grades achieved for the specific course(s) will be included on your academic statement and will be included in the calculation of your WAM for your new Program but will not appear on your official UNSW academic transcript under your new program. The courses will remain on your academic transcript under your old program.

More information

The AGSM MBA Programs' RPL protocol and procedure aligns with the UNSW Credit Transfer Policy.

UNSW and AGSM regularly review policies, protocol, and procedures. Changes may impact a student during their academic progress. AGSM will update documentation on the website in real time and announce any changes via UCo.
